Product Description:

At Kenstan we are always focused on integrating the latest technology into our solutions to assist retailers in reducing shrink. By partnering with Honeywell and their new GSM Digital Radios, the same technology found in millions of cell phones can now be used to assure you that your showcase locks are indeed locked. The KENSTAN LOCK ALERT SYSTEM will alert you by text and/or email when your cabinets, showcases, or displays are left unlocked.

Company Overview:

Seven of the country's top 10 retailers rely on Kenstan's full line of high-quality showcase and cabinet locks to secure their products. No matter what the application or security level, with our commitment to total service, we can assist you with security layouts, keying plans, and customized products to meet your specific security needs. Product Description:

Leading retail companies use our case management and integrated global telephone and Web-based hotline reporting services to help prevent loss and as a critical component of their overall governance, risk, and compliance efforts. EthicsPoint's loss prevention solution is a powerful case management application designed to help retailers quickly identify, investigate, recover, and prevent retail losses. Investigators and approved users can use this system to create electronic case records rapidly, thereby improving the management of information regarding criminal activities, threats, acts of fraud, internal theft, shoplifting, accidents, and other tracked activity. Additionally, EthicsPoint offers a loss recovery module that dramatically speeds up the civil recovery and restitution process by integrating payment records from a third-party civil recovery agency with the restitution plans and payment records stored in the case management platform.

Company Overview:

EthicsPoint was founded in 1999 by a group of certified fraud examiners who envisioned combining the then exploding use of the Internet with their real-world expertise in fraud awareness and investigations. The initial release of the EthicsPoint solution revolutionized incident reporting with a fully integrated telephone and Web-based "hotline" mechanism, and secure, immediate delivery of reported issues and concerns using Web-portal technology.

EthicsPoint continues to deliver innovative solutions that enable organizations to easily and effectively manage their investigations across the enterprise with the scalability and flexibility needed by Fortune 100 multinational companies as well as single-location small businesses. Today, EthicsPoint enables more than 2,300 organizations to foster a business culture of integrity and compliance. We help clients protect their culture and reputation by automating business processes, such as the reporting and identification of issues and events (including theft), to the subsequent investigation and resolution of behavior that may be inconsistent with their code of conduct.
